POITRA Visual can provide visual simulation for your rail project in any phase from conceptual through final design. We are experienced in transportation projects including light and heavy rail and the issues associated with design, agency coordination, and community and system integration.

Our expertise is in not only the visualization and presentation of a proposed overall design but in the phases of project development including design alternatives, visual impacts, mitigation processes, and community and agency relations.

We provide the 3d or photo-realistic visuals that bring the concept to life and we can bundle the visuals in a print-ready format (brochure, newsletter, handout or presentation board), provide an on-screen presentation (flash multimedia, html, pdf or ppt format), and we can develop a public information website for your project for community interaction and feedback.
